They may also recall some busy hours spent in order that the men who are giving their lives for our country and for us, may have a few more comforts. And more lasting than these memories will be the truth impressed by that work, that the surest way to be happy is to help.

EMPLOYMENT AND WAGES

"Made-in-Canada" Provides Work For Working People

The "Made-in-Canada" movement today means more than business or profit for the Canadian manufacturer. It means employment for Canadian workpeople, who will spend their wages over the counters of Canadian stores to the advantage of Canadian merchants and Canadian business generally. It means traffic, both freight and passenger, for our railways, which again contributes to increased activity in all fields of Canadian commercial enterprise. It means a home market with good prices for the farmer has to sell to the Canadian workman and his family. Ask the farmer around Winnipeg or Toronto, or Montreal or Brantford what they think about this splendid market right at their doors.

A DOLLAR TALKS

Warns its Owner Against Sending it Away—Pleads to be Kept at Home

"I am a Dollar! A little egg-worm, perhaps, but still in circulation. I am proud of myself for being in circulation. I am no tomato-can dollar—not I. This town is only my adopted home, but I like it and hope to remain permanently. When I came out of the mint I was adopted into a town like this in another province. But, after a time, I was sent off to a big city, many miles away. I turned up in a mail-order house. For several years I stayed in that city. Millionaires bought cigars with me. I didn't like that, for I believe in the plain people. Finally a travelling man brought me to this town and left me here. I was so glad to get back to a smaller town that I was determined to make a desperate effort to stay.

"One day a citizen of this town was about to send me back to that big city. I caught him looking over a mail-order catalogue. Suddenly I found my voice and said to him: 'Look here, if you'll let me stay in this town I'll circulate around and do you a lot of good. You buy a big beefsteak with me, and the butcher will buy groceries, and the grocer will buy hardware, and the hardware man will pay his doctor bill with me, and the doctor will spend me with a farmer for oats to feed his horse with, and the farmer will buy some fresh meat from the butcher, who will come around to the dentist to get his tooth mended. In the long run, as you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you send me away forever.'

"The man said it was a mighty stiff argument. He hadn't looked at it in that light before, so he went and bought the beefsteak, and I began to circulate around home again."

The above article from "Country Life in Canada," for June, illustrated in a striking manner the argument for home town buying. The argument applies quite as strongly in the matter of "Made-in-Canada" purchasing. The best results for all concerned are secured by spending the dollar in one's own community. First, giving the preference, where possible, to articles made in the community, second, to "Made-in-Canada" articles, and third, where "Made-in-Canada" articles cannot be secured, preference should be given to those made within the Empire.

CROSSFIELD, ALTA., AUG. 20, 1915.

Red Cross Publicity

Prisoners of War in Germany.
Opinion of a Norwegian Neutral.

Mr. T. E. Steen, a Norwegian, is lecturing in England, under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, upon the treatment of prisoners of war in Germany. The Red Cross is the recognized international guardian of all prisoners of war and is at present actively engaged in supplementing the meagre German ration. Mr. Steen's statements show the need of public support in this matter.

He states that after many difficulties he was allowed, in the company of German officials to visit several prison camps.

The first visit was to the camp at Sanson, 22 miles from Berlin, where 15,000 prisoners were interned in huts. They then slept on mattresses, with two or three blankets each, but plank beds were being made. There was a hut used as a theatre, and in another some sculptures, one of them a pupil of Rodin, were carving monuments for dead comrades. The bread was made of rye, with 35 per cent. of potato flour. When well made it was nourishing and not bad, but the quality was not uniform, and when not kneaded properly the bread soon became mouldy. Each prisoner received, 3lb. every five days. The dinner was a kind of pottage made of salt cod and barley meal, insipid and not appetizing. Solid food was given powdered or stewed, so that it could be eaten with a spoon, knives and forks not being allowed. Hospital arrangements left nothing to be desired. At Blankenburg, six miles from Berlin, where some 140 officers were confined in a building well adapted for the purpose, he saw General Loman, a gallant defender of Liege, who was in bad health, and spoke of himself as being 'condemned to death.' He also saw General Gordon of the Gordon Highlanders, who was in ill health. His general impression was that there had been decided improvements in the last three months, and that the German authorities paid great attention to hygiene.

An officer who has just returned from a German camp said that though conditions were much improved, the favourable descriptions given and the pictures shown by the lecturer did not apply to all the camps. Hygienic precautions had not prevented ravages of contagious diseases, and there were 2,500 deaths in one camp from typhus. The food was some time insufficient, and presents of biscuits and such things were useful. But present conditions were not those of one or two months ago. Epidemics of disease due to neglect were things of the past, and relatives of prisoners need not now have any anxiety.

The German Lied.

An eye-witness tells the following story: A German north of Arras, came out of his trench calling to the French troops opposite: "Comrades, England has made cat's paw of you; Russia is beaten; Italy has been repulsed; you are lost. Give up the fight."

His speech delivered, he was given time to drop back into his trench, then spontaneously from the French trenches rose a perfect shower of hand grenades. Explosions followed like the rumble of thunder, and before the echo died the Frenchmen were out of their trenches surging down on the Germans in an irresistible laydown charge.

Two minutes later the entire section of German trench was won, the enemy's dead lay in piles, and the remainder were prisoners.

"That's what we think of your speech," said the French to the Germans. "Besides, the bad men get folk who tell lies!"

"She died for me," said the young husband when he beheld her dark locks gradually returning to their original red.

Students in Large Numbers Attending School of Agriculture at Olds

It will be interesting to many of our readers to know that the School of Agriculture at Olds will be filled to the doors again this year. Last year several students were unable to attend because the school had registered up to its capacity. This year the government are erecting another large building 40ft. by 40ft. two story high, which will handle another 100 students, and the present indications are that the School will have all that it can handle again this year. Already a total of 124 farmers sons and daughters have registered for the course beginning November 1st. It will be possible to accommodate from 150 to 160 students, consequently the school will only be able to register another 36 students. The applications are coming in very early this year, in fact, the school had practically no registration up to the 1st of September last year, and it will thus be seen that the practical nature of the work given at the School of Agriculture to the boys from the farms, and to the girls in the Household Science work, is being appreciated by the people of the province.

A great many students who have little knowledge of the work done in the school, were surprised to see the exhibited students work which was carried on the special train which toured the province last month. The work is made as practical as possible in all departments. The course in Agriculture is designed particularly for the boy who is going to farm, and the work in cooking, sewing and nursing as given to the girls, is exceedingly practical and useful.

If any boys or girls in the central part of the province desire calendar or further information, they will please apply to,

W. J. ELLIOTT,
Principal, School of Agriculture,
Olds.

The Hessian Fly In The West.

The Hessian-fly is well-known to farmers as a serious pest of cereal crops during the present season it has caused the loss of millions of bushels in the United States. In Western Canada its depredations fortunately have not attained an extent experienced in other regions of the continent and in order to be able to advise the farmers in the western provinces in Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have investigated this insect. The results of this investigation, which was conducted by Mr. Norman Criddle for several years, have now been published by the Department in Entomological Bulletin No. 11, in order to enable farmers to recognize the injury of the insect in its incipient stages and, being thus forewarned, they will be in a position to prevent losses that are liable to occur where the insect is present, as control methods are also described. In addition, the Western Wheat Stem Maggot has been studied and described. This is a native insect that has turned its attention from native to cultivated cereals on which it can become a serious pest. Its habits, life-history and the means of control are fully described in the same bulletin, which is entitled "The Hessian Fly and the Western Wheat Stem Maggot in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta." The bulletin is illustrated and may be obtained free on application to the Chief Officer, Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. All inquiries for information regarding insect pests should be addressed to the Dominion Entomologist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

British Transport Sunk.

The British transport Royal Edward has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine on Sunday last. Six hundred men out of 1,350 troops and 220 other persons on board.

The Royal Edward was sunk by an enemy submarine in the Aegean sea last Sunday morning. So far as has been officially announced this is the first instance in which a British transport has been attacked successfully by a submarine. It has been gratifying to the British government that it had transported hundreds of thousands of troops across many seas without loss of life.

Later news to hand confirms the impression that there were no Canadians aboard the Royal Edward.
